

A rigorous Euclidian geometry crowned by nature

A ship on the asphalt sea

An exploding pyramid

An arrow from rock to sky

An accident that breaks monotony

A garden to withdraw, a balcony to expand

An island within the island

At a hectic traffic point, a sheltering, intimate space

A soft public ramp, acquires a strong urban scale thanks to the height of the trees

Walls of corten attached to concealed concrete, give inside the garden, the feeling of immaterial support to the platform

These walls rise from the street at a steeper angle than that of the ramp, thus eventually ending in a safe hand support

A formal planting of Acer Rubrums, the red of the maple tree leaves in autumn and of the buds in spring match the tones of the oxidized metal

Solid stone benches on a gravel carpet

A triangular park stolen to the asphalt

